NOT A WATER-BALLET FORMATION. SOMETHING TO DO WITH RELIEVING TENSIONS.

Doctor of veterinary medicine has opened two salons in Japan—not for beautifying pet dogs or cats, but for making women stylish and men Adonis-like.

Shizue Wada, 39, has one emporium in Tokyo and the second in Osaka. They are operated under the name "Wada Research Institute."

The beauty-from-exercise routines which the Institute propounds are, simply, five basic rules of health: selected food, work, exercise, special bathing procedures, and rest.

Wada claims his best record for slimming-and-trimming is over 15 pounds in seven days, and over 37 pounds in ten weeks. But Wada demands strict adherence to his five rules.

People from all walks of life in Japan—housewives, office girls, entertainers, businessmen, even professional boxers, and leading politicians—use the Institute's "beauty gymnasiums." Persons ranging in age from nine to over 65.

The Institute's establishments include specially-equipped gyms, baths, and "training table" dining rooms where Wada's selected foods are served.

Special-bathing techniques, as part of Wada's program, involve 20-second dips at prescribed intervals up to a total of eight per session. The washing procedure is also prescribed, step-by-step, followed by a tepid shower (by the pailful—15 to be exact).

Usually on a once-a-week basis, Wada gets his clientele in all sizes, shapes and forms. The too-slim (to downright skinny) and the overweight (to "unbelievable"). Wada builds up, and he trims-and-slims down. Among his achievements, Wada claims that some of the Japanese entrants in the "Miss World" and "Miss International" beauty contests had previously attended his salons.

Dutch Restrict Chinese Reds

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP)—The Dutch government has restricted Communist Chinese diplomats to The Hague and some adjoining municipalities, confining them to an area with a six-mile radius.

The restriction is in retaliation for restrictions placed on Dutch diplomats in Peking.

The Dutch in Peking were restricted and the charge d'affaires, Gerard Jongejans, was declared persona non grata after eight visiting Chinese technicians took refuge in the Chinese legation here to escape police questioning about the mysterious death of another member of their delegation to a conference on welding techniques.

Thanksgiving, 345 Years Young

How the first Thanksgiving might have appeared.

Although the custom of harvest time thanksgivings were ages old before the Pilgrims set foot in Plymouth, it was the feast that they celebrated in 1621 that is regarded as the ancestor of today's great national holiday. The exact date of that first Thanksgiving is unknown, and even the presence of a turkey on the banquet table is undocumented. Here is all the colonial chronicler has to say about it:

"Our harvest being gotten in, our governor sent four men on fowling, that we might after a special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruit of our labors. They four in one day killed as many fowl as, with a little help beside, served the company almost a week. At which time, amongst other recreations, we exercised our arms, many of the Indians coming amongst us, and among the rest their greatest king Massasoit, with some ninety men, whom for three days we entertained and feasted, and they went out and killed five deer, which they brought to the plantation and bestowed on our governor, and upon the captain and others. And although it be not always so plentiful as it was at this time with us, yet by the goodness of God, we are so far from want that we often wish you partakers of our plenty."

adults, as we've had driver training.

I am not quite 16, but am looking forward to my driver's license. My mother and I are alone and she works 48 hours a week. She also does the grocery shopping, transports me to and from the hospital where I do charity work, to my baby-sitting jobs, and on other errands. If I can take some of the load and relieve her of work, why not?

I say restrict those teens who break the law, but not all teens! --JANET

Dear Helen: CWD wants to ban driving until age 18 -- and then draft all 18-year-olds or high school dropouts. I can't figure out whether she hates the girls or the boys most, but she's sure as heck trying to keep them from mixing! --TOM

Dear Readers: As predicted, letters ran about 10 to one against raising the driving age to 18.H.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people who have problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

Dear Helen: I believe in mixing with boys and not getting too serious about any special guy. In other words, I don't want to go steady.

However, I think I'm the only kid in my town with this opinion. I'm stuck with one guy just because I don't know how to get rid of him and he has no intention of leaving me. Even if I do shake him, there aren't enough fella's around that believe in going out with different girls. What can I do? -- HOPELESS CASE

Dear H.C.: This close-off bothers so many teens that I'm amazed you don't get together and do something about it. "Going steady" (with ring and pledges, and all that jazz) is going out, but boy and girl are STILL paired into "going steady," even if they're rather not. Sometimes they're bored silly with one another, but like you -- afraid to break up because "anyone is better than no one."

How have other teens solved the problem-- or have you? I'll welcome letters on the subject. -- H.

Dear Helen: This is in reply to CWD who suggested they raise the drivers' license age to 18. She has a very one-sided point of view.

Adults cause accidents, too. Many teens need cars to get to school or work. We relieve our parents of much chauffeuring -- and most of us are careful. We also know the rules better than

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THEY BLAME YOUTH FOR MOST ANYTHING: "College boys sock sock" is the wail of the sock industry--because the lad of walking sock-free in loafers is big, too, on college campuses. Actually, this trend started several years ago among all ages and sexes... seemed easier and more natural when wearing slip-on shoes. But it really jumped into fashion this summer when the international jet set shed socks with all types of sport costumes-- after legs got a good tan. No one yet wanders sockless in shoes with laces... in ski boots... or wearing a tuxedo. Signs are current fad will probably not go much further... because sock manufacturers are valiantly fighting back. New combination striped velour socks, bright-colored leisure socks, and new over-the-calf length socks are being rushed out to shame bald-ankled young males into keeping toes gay and cozy with sockwear.

GUITARS CONTINUE TO BE GO-GO: Some 10 million people finger guitars in this country... the great majority of them are you. Girls strum mostly the straight models, teen boys buy the lion's share of the electrics. You play them alone... you play them with ukeleles, banjos and other instruments... you feature them (straight or electric) for the combos you organize. You play everything from folk to classical to pop music on their strings. School music clubs are "in"--now more than ever--with the guitar-smitten. Round up five or 10 guys and gals who can play melodies, then latch on to a qualified leader. Music buffs testify the guitar is "a social musical instrument". To buy a guitar that'll churn out the kind of music you want, first give it a test... check the string action both for tautness and ease of fingering... and see there's no warping of neck or fingerboard, no splits in the wood. Good "used" guitars, like good used cars, are fine to own... good new ones have a high trade-in value. How much should you pay? Varies--for a good straight folk, classic or arched-top (best for rock 'n' roll) minimum is $40, maximum $500... for an electric with amplifier (that out-rolls and out-rolls the arched-top) the floor is $100, the roof $1,400.

MOST DANGEROUS COLLEGE SPORT--TOUCH FOOTBALL: A report just whisked out by the University of Iowa proclaims that touch football, as far as getting hurt goes, is a tougher game than varsity football. Among games played around the campus, touch football tops all others in admissions for injuries. Others high up on the injury-prone list in sports at college are skiing, physical education and workouts on the Trampoline. The university's statistics on the rough, tough game of touch football do not clarify whether some of these are coeducational matches--mixing in lasses with the passes... which might affect the high incidence of injuries.

GRAB BAG OF NEW THINGS: A slip of a girl in a slip of a dress. Newest fad of one New York model is to skip to parties free of a dress. Instead, she wears a slip--in a print, in silver, a Paisley... naturally solid and not sheer. Underwear as outerwear designers swear is now hip. Calling all nail biters. The first antinail-biting pharmaceutical compounded especially for young adults is now on the market. A nasty-tasting chemical you paint on, the manufacturers say it's for the millions of U.S. families (one family in three) that shelter a nail biter... who is usually a young adult and (the chances are two-to-one) a girl. British are finding baseball's not cricket. The BBC took a big gamble and showed the British Isles a film of this year's World Series, one of young America's favorite events. It baffled the British viewers who get excited about cricket, a game that's played with a flat bat and wickets and can last all day. Typical was one puzzled Londoner's query--"Why does the catcher in U.S. baseball wear a fencer's mask?" The Fig Leaf is the name of a new shop opened at Antioch College by the Community Government--with such little coverage, everyone's wondering what they have to sell.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) "My Three Sons," the CBS series, seems to go on smoothly from year to year specializing in warm family relationships, gentle comedy, a discreet laugh track and a very comfortable if not dramatic Nielsen rating.

Over the seasons the half-hour show has survived a change of networks, substituted William Demarest for the late William Frawley as the crochety, lovable senior member of the family. It married off -- and out of the show -- the oldest son who outgrew his part and replaced him with an appealing little boy who started out as a visiting orphan but now is a bona fide offspring.

It made all these shifts without causing so much as a ripple of discomfort for the program's devotees. But "My Three Sons" went on a wild, tearing Soupy Sales binge Thursday night.

It was all very unexpected. Robbie, currently the number one son, started a birthday supply operation that became suddenly big business during one of the father's absences. In fact, the boys were so busy making birthday cakes, they forgot their father's birthday -- very typical of "My Three Sons" style with a nice little moral building up.

Then suddenly everybody gathered in the kitchen and started heaving cakes at each other -- 37 of them in fact -- as the laugh track whooped it up and whipped cream was scattered all over. Friends of the program devoutly hope this was just something the writers had to get out of their systems.

On another front, NBC's "Daniel Boone" goes its busy way as an early evening program designed to entertain and amuse children in the audience. Although it is set in the Revolutionary War period, it looks like a western and very often it acts like a western.

Thursday night's episode featured a shootout between a good Indian named Red Sky and a bad Indian named Tall Deer.

For all the presence of Boone's wife and children and occasional lectures on sportsmanship, manners and fair play, it manages to inject plenty of action and -- let's face it -- violence into most episodes.

All animal hides and skins can be tanned.

SUN-MON at SAENGER

INSTANT ROMANCE — To throw inquiring newsmen off the trail, Rock Hudson slips a ring on Claudia Cardinale's finger to give the impression that they have just announced their engagement in this scene in Universal's romantic suspense comedy "Blindfold," photographed in Technicolor starring Hudson and Cardinale; co-starring Jack Warden, Guy Stockwell, Brad Dexter.

Starts Thursday at Saenger

Phyllis Diller, as a maid who doesn't confine herself to housework duties, questions her boss (Bob Hope) about the origin of those lipstick marks. "Boy, Did I Get a Wrong Number!"

A beauty parlor is where women go to exchange back-fence gossip in the winter-time.

SCIENCE AND CHRISTIANITY
LONDON (AP) — The "conflict between science and Christianity has been caused by a persistent tendency to treat faith as though it were a matter of science, and science as though it were a matter of faith," the Rev. Dr. Russell Hindmarsh, of the University of Newcastle upon Tyne, told a meeting here.

"GIVE US THIS DAY"

...Thanksgiving Day. By executive authority, this is a day set apart each year for private and public thanksgiving, and for praise to Almighty God for all His benefits.

Thanks Lord, for the oppressed group of pilgrims who in the long ago blazed a trail that led to this land called America. Their deep longing kindled a spark that urged them on until they found freedom's land, America, where God is love.

As families reunite this festive day, none will dare forget to raise a prayer of Thanksgiving to God for the simple, the every-day-things; for life, for family, for food and shelter. The toll of church bells throughout the land will signal the call to worship for many, many people. Oh, that this could be one day when grace is said at every table in America. Then, may we together, repeat this prayer... "O Give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good: and His mercy endureth for ever." A-men.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we on Sunday, "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH. GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

This Church Isn't House of God

Paulskirche

By HEINZ RUDI BRUNNER
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — Frankfurt's best known church has no pastor and no congregation. Historic Paulskirche (St. Paul's Church) has a cross-topped bell-tower but it is not even a house of God any more.

As the meeting place of Germany's first National Assembly in 1848, a bomb-shattered Paulskirche was rebuilt after World War II as a shrine of the fatherland. Thousands of tourists visit the onetime protestant church every year to be told that this was the birthplace of democratic Germany.

The 133-year-old building where services had been regularly held until 1944, became a postwar place of festive events. President Kennedy spoke there during his 1963 Germany visit. Albert Schweitzer, the late Nobel Peace Prize winner, and dozens of other leading international personalities also addressed ceremonial assemblies in Paulskirche.

But the church also was the site of numerous not-so-formal events. Family planning congresses, stamp exhibitions, flower shows and even a Swedish expert on potato boiling attracted paying guests to the shrine.

The city administration, which had become owner of Paulskirche after its reconstruction, came under growing fire for being too generous in renting the building to commercial users.

"I would not be surprised if some day a course teaching corn-redding would be held in the church," one citizen angrily wrote to city hall.

City fathers could point to a precedent in history: When Paulskirche was still unfinished, protestant authorities — in return for an unrecorded sum — gave their approval for its use as a carnival ground. Top feature of the fair, in 1791, was the captive balloon of France's famed Madame Blanchard.

But the criticism stuck despite this historic point. City fathers have just promulgated new rules stipulating that henceforth Paulskirche will not be made available for commercial purposes.

"Paulskirche is no meeting place but a historic shrine," the rules state. "It is the symbol for the democratic will of the Germans." Officials explained that the rules were drawn up to preserve the dignity of the place.

The church will continue to be available for award presentations and other "serious" events. The rent remains unchanged — 276 marks ($69) per day, plus heating and light.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH
Clean Dentures Do Not Affect Sense of Taste
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: It seems that ever since I started wearing false teeth, food hasn't tasted the same. Sometimes I can't taste at all. Is it because my palate is covered by the denture?

ANSWER—I've heard this complaint from time to time but don't think it can be blamed on dentures that cover the palate. There are no taste buds in the palate. Gourmets' claims to sensitive, delicate palates are figments of their imaginations.

Taste buds are located on the upper surface of the tongue. The rough appearance of this surface is due to presence of numerous bumps called papillae. These bumps contain taste buds or receptors which are stimulated by the four basic tastes—sweet, sour, salty and bitter or some combination or variation of these. Then the message is sent to the brain.

But subtlety and complexity of taste are much more involved. Sensations can be altered by texture of food, contrasts in quality and quantity of tastes, drugs, disease, alcohol, visual effect and memory.

Sense of smell is most vital to taste. Flavors we recognize are dependent on smell. We all know that when we have a cold, our sense of taste is temporarily diminished, altered or completely lost. Continual loss may be due to polyps in the nasal passages that are so large they block receptors of smell in the nose.

If your sense of taste is lost, it would be wise to consult a nose and throat specialist. Thorough examination of upper areas of nose is indicated.

Dentures that are not kept clean absorb odors that may be strong enough to alter or distort taste of certain foods.
But denture odors can be prevented by eliminating from the diet volatile foods, such as onions and garlic; brushing dentures at least once a day with hand brush and warm water and soap; and having them cleaned and polished at least twice a year by your dentist.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The term "Mach number," referring to the ratio between the velocity of a flying vehicle in the atmosphere and the speed of sound, was named for Ernst Mach, Austrian physicist and philosopher of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. His criticisms of contemporary scientific views helped to pave the way for Albert Einstein's theory of relativity a generation later.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

All the old clichés of bridge are worth knowing but if you follow them blindly, you'll sleep in the streets.

One of the oldest is "Cover an honor with an honor." Of course, there is a conspicuous exception to this rule. When your honor is in back of two consecutive lower honors you can and you should always consider waiting and covering the second one.

East didn't know about this exception. He put his king of hearts on dummy's jack. It turned out to be a disastrous mistake.

South won with his ace and played out the ace and king of trumps. Then he played his ace of diamonds, led a diamond to the king and ruffed a third diamond. His next play was a third trump. East won and led a club. West took his ace and queen but that was all.

The queen of hearts was an entry to dummy and South's losing heart was discarded on a low diamond.

If East had played low on the first heart South would never have been able to get to dummy's diamond. He would have lost a heart trick in addition to the one trump and two clubs that he could do nothing about.

Was it possible that East's failure to play the king could cost his side a trick? It was but only if West had decided to make the ridiculous lead of the nine from a five or six card suit headed by the ace. Otherwise, East's failure to play his king could not lose a trick for his side.

Steelers Are After Another Big Scalp

By HAL BOCK

The Pittsburgh Steelers, with two impressive scalps already dangling from the belts, go for the Eastern Conference grand slam when they face the Dallas Cowboys in a National Football League game Sunday.

The Steelers had lost five straight when they suddenly turned on Cleveland and defeated the Browns 16-6 two weeks ago. Last week it was first place St. Louis' turn and the Cardinals took a 30-9 rapping. Now Dallas, with a chance to move into a first-place tie with St. Louis, runs into the red-hot Steelers.

The Cowboys, one-half game behind the Cardinals, got a psychological lift for their game Thursday when they learned that tackle Ralph Neely now belongs to them with no strings attached.

Neely had been the subject of a long and bitter battle in the courts between Dallas and Houston of the American Football League.

Cleveland, trying to stay alive in the East, entertains Washington — the first of two games in five days for the Browns. They'll meet Dallas in the Cotton Bowl on Thanksgiving Day.

In other games, Chicago visits Green Bay, Baltimore is at Detroit, Atlanta starts a three-game road trip in New York, Minnesota plays at Los Angeles and San Francisco entertains Philadelphia.

In the American League, Oakland plays at Denver, Boston visits Kansas City, New York hosts Miami and Buffalo is at Houston.

Cleveland boasts a potent offense with running backs Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green supplementing the passing of Frank Ryan. Kelly has gained 730 yards running and Green 590 for second and fourth place among NFL rushers and Ryan has thrown 19 touchdown passes.

Green Bay, tied for the Western Conference Lead with Baltimore, had a week off to contemplate its 20-17 loss to Minnesota. Bart Starr is leading the NFL in passing, but the Packers may have to go without Paul Hornung, who is nursing a neck injury.

Detroit got a record-smashing six field goals from Gary Yepremian, their left-footed soccer-type kicker from Cyprus, last week. But the Colts' Lou Michaels, a conventional straight-away booter, leads the NFL in scoring with 82 points.

Winless Atlanta, which has dropped nine straight, could have a chance against the injury-ridden Giants.

Los Angeles has the NFL's leading rushing in Dick Bass, who has gained 744 yards. Fran Tarkenton, Minnesota's scrambling quarterback, was intercepted five times and gained only 83 yards passing in the Vikings' 32-31 loss to Detroit last week.

Norm Snead and King Hill have been splitting Philadelphia's quarterbacking chores and it will continue that way for the Eagles' first visit to San Francisco in seven years. John Brodie set a 49er club record when he threw 54 passes in a 30-30 tie with Chicago last Sunday.

Little Rock Horace Mann 83, Hope Yerger 0

Little Rock—The Horace Mann Bearcats tuned up for a Thanksgiving showdown with Little Rock Jones by rolling over Hope Yerger Tigers 83-0 Friday night.

Charles Robinson started the scoring parade with a six-yard run in the first period. Bruce Swinton who kicked nine for nine extra points added the conversion. Michael Peterson kicked two in three attempts.

Walter Nelson scored on a 21 yard gallop and Robinson got another on a 12 yard run. It was 21-0 at the end of the first period.

Henry Anderson returned a pass interception 37 yards for a TD. Robert Alexander scored on an 11 yard run. It was 35-0 at the half and the Little Rock team showed no mercy at all.

Robinson scored on a 13 yard run in the third quarter. Larry Miller scored on a 15 yard run, and John Richardson caught a 21 yard scoring pass from Swinton. It was 55-0 at the end of three.

Swinton scored on a five yard run. Warren Jordan scored on a five yard run and David Lewis on a three yard run. Billy Anderson connected with Simmons with a 52 yard touchdown pass to finally wind up the scoring. Horace Mann intercepted seven Yerger passes.

22 Deaths From Football Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Claude Smith, a 210-pound tackle, appeared in 10 plays in Arkansas' game with Texas A&M Oct. 29. Last Tuesday he became the latest football player to die this season. The unofficial toll for 1966 to date is nine.

Smith, married and the father of a baby girl, collapsed after the game and was hospitalized for brain surgery. He never emerged from a coma.

Last spring, the 23-year-old player from Searcy, Ark., underwent brain surgery for the removal of a blood clot, but physicians cleared him to play again.

Arkansas coaches reported game film showed Smith was not hit on the head during the 10 plays he played.

Once again high school football was hardest hit by fatal injuries. Last Season at least 22 high school players died.

Statistics also showed that from 1931 through 1964 a total of 328 school players died as a direct result of football injuries compared to 253 on the sandlot, professional, semipro and college levels. There were 146 high school deaths as an indirect result of football injuries compared to 131 for the others.

The death of one high school player this year was indirectly caused by a football injury. A high school junior varsity player in Western Pennsylvania died last Tuesday after going into shock during minor surgery for torn knee ligaments.

Other deaths this season included: John Perrault, 18, of Shawano, Wis., High School, died Oct. 15 of injuries suffered when tackled in a game Oct. 7.

Thomas White, 19, of Southern Methodist University, collapsed on the practice field March 3 and died eight hours later of a heart stoppage.

Jeffery Litherland, 17, of Pennsylvania, N.J., High School died Sept. 25 of head injuries suffered in a preseason scrimmage.

William Falt, 14, of Burlington High School, collapsed during punting practice Sept. 26 and died later during surgery.

Clifton Baker Jr., 15, of Banks High School, Birmingham, Ala., died of an apparent broken neck in a scrimmage Feb. 25.

Benjamin Stur Jr., of Bishop Noll High School, Hammond, Ind., injured in practice and died Aug. 16.

Robert Mogabgab, 16, collapsed at practice and died Aug. 17 in a hospital at New Orleans, La.

Henry Anderson returned a pass interception 37 yards for a TD. Robert Alexander scored on an 11 yard run. It was 35-0 at the half and the Little Rock team showed no mercy at all.

surge down the November grid-iron trail.

McVea was the most highly publicized Texas schoolboy footballer of his day when he came out of San Antonio, with the tag of Wondroun Warren, and headed for Houston.

But he not only couldn't do anything for the Houston offense in that first varsity football game he played in the Astrodome, his fumbling lost the contest. He had to be benched.

It was mid-season before he could regain his equilibrium. He finished up well but was scarcely noticed.

This season is another matter. McVea, who can run 100 yards in 9.5, has been having such a great year that the pro scouts rank him among the top 10 college prospects — he's only a junior.

McVea made his comeback as a flanker but now has shifted to running back and is averaging 9.4 yards per carry — the all-time NCAA record is 11.5.

He has gotten in only 55 minutes in three games but has carried the ball 46 times for 422 yards and four touchdowns. His longest run was 63 yards — against Kentucky.

In the first five games, he was the flanker and caught 13 passes for 384 yards and three touchdowns. His longest dash was 99 yards against Washington State. The record average for pass-receiving is 30.9 and McVea's average is 29.5.

He has taken five kickoffs back 129 yards.

The 180-pound star helped Houston to a 73-14 victory over Tulsa. While so doing, he was thinking about that dreary day in the Astrodome when he was the most humiliated football player in the country.

McVea started his college football career as a huge flop. Remember that miserable debut against Tulsa on television in the Astrodome in 1965? The star-makers dropped him like a hot rock.

But they're dusting off their superlatives these days as McVea leads the Cougars on a wild

Bills, Chiefs Could Wrap It All Up

By TED MEIER

The Buffalo Bills and the Kansas City Chiefs can go a long way Sunday toward wrapping up the divisional titles in the American Football League.

The Bills travel to Houston to battle the Oilers. Another triumph over the Texans would give the Eastern Division leading Bills a 7-3-1 record with three games left.

The Chiefs, leading the Western Division with an 8-2-0 mark, play at home against the surprising Boston Patriots, the Eastern Division runner-up at 5-3-1.

In the other AFL games Sunday, the New York Jets entertain the Miami Dolphins in an effort to end a four-game losing strake while at Denver the Broncos take on the invading Oakland Raiders.

Buffalo is favored to repeat its earlier 27-20 victory against Houston. The Bills, beaten by San Diego and Kansas City in their first two games, have been a powerful crew of late.

The passing of Jackie Kemp and the running of Bobby Burdett and Wray Carlton have sparked the Bills. They are expected to dull the passing of Don Trull and George Blanda of the Oilers with a concentrated rush.

The game at Kansas City is a big one for both the Chiefs and the Patriots. The Chiefs have the best record in the league with Len Dawson throwing 22 touchdown passes backed by the running of Bert Coan and Mike Garrett.

They beat Boston earlier in the season 43-24 and are once again expected to overcome the threat of Babe Parilli's passing and the powerful running of full-back Jim Nance.

Joe Namath's passing is expected to be too much for Miami as the Jets are favored to end their losing streak. The Jets beat the Dolphins 19-14 in Miami beach in September.

Paced by the passing of Tom Flores, Oakland is expected to win its sixth game in its last high.

Now that Houston has him, it can't really take full advantage of his talents.

"Would you rather play away games?" someone asked. "Let's just say I would rather play outside." Warren answered. "I can run fast in the Astrodome, but I can't make the moves I would like I just do better outside."

The playing surface is called AstroTurf because it is in the Astrodome. It has a quarter-inch base of hard rubber topped with imitation nylon grass nine-sixteenths of an inch deep. A football player after 60 minutes comes out clean and neat as after a visit of the White Knight on television.

Warren McVea, a 210-pound tackle, appeared in 10 plays in Arkansas' game with Texas A&M Oct. 29. Last Tuesday he became the latest football player to die this season. The unofficial toll for 1966 to date is nine.

Smith, married and the father of a baby girl, collapsed after the game and was hospitalized for brain surgery. He never emerged from a coma.

Last spring, the 23-year-old player from Searcy, Ark., underwent brain surgery for the removal of a blood clot, but physicians cleared him to play again.

Arkansas coaches reported game film showed Smith was not hit on the head during the 10 plays he played.

Once again high school football was hardest hit by fatal injuries. Last Season at least 22 high school players died.

Statistics also showed that from 1931 through 1964 a total of 328 school players died as a direct result of football injuries compared to 253 on the sandlot, professional, semipro and college levels. There were 146 high school deaths as an indirect result of football injuries compared to 131 for the others.

The death of one high school player this year was indirectly caused by a football injury. A high school junior varsity player in Western Pennsylvania died last Tuesday after going into shock during minor surgery for torn knee ligaments.

Other deaths this season included: John Perrault, 18, of Shawano, Wis., High School, died Oct. 15 of injuries suffered when tackled in a game Oct. 7.

Thomas White, 19, of Southern Methodist University, collapsed on the practice field March 3 and died eight hours later of a heart stoppage.

Jeffery Litherland, 17, of Pennsylvania, N.J., High School died Sept. 25 of head injuries suffered in a preseason scrimmage.

Millionaire May Escape Relief Pay

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Otto Orkin, the pest-control millionaire with no spending money, won't have to go on relief after all.

The plight of the Latvian immigrant, 78, drew wide attention early this month when his wife applied for welfare funds and government surplus food because Orkin's fortune was tied up in a trust fund and the courts.

Since then, the Orkins say, they have received letters of encouragement, cash donations of $1 to $50 and an invitation to live with one newspaper reader.

And the couple's attorney says trustees of the Orkin estate have set up limited credit with grocery stores, druggists and laundries.

Starting in Allentown, Pa., with a homemade rat poison and a third grade education, Orkin developed a $65-million extermination business with 400 branches in 28 states.

After years of litigation in intrafamily financial squabbles and sanity hearings, Orkin was ruled mentally incompetent in 1964.

His third wife, with whom he lives in suburban Smyrna, is custodian of his person but not of his property.

Mrs. Orkin applied for aid from the Cobb County Welfare Department Oct. 31 and received a card entitling the couple to draw surplus beans, lard, meal, rice and peanut butter.

Mrs. Orkin was removed as guardian of Orkin's property in 1965 and a businessman was named in her place. This year the Orkins petitioned a county court to remove the businessman. The court said that according to provisions of the Orkin trust it had no jurisdiction over the property.

This made it impossible for the property guardian to receive any trust funds for the Orkins, and they were left without an income.

Now the Orkins have filed suit to remove the trustees of the estate or to obtain more of the trust's income. The suit is to be heard next week in Fulton County (Atlanta) Superior Court.

Cut Sprinkler the Hard Way

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Laurie Spicer decided to move a sprinkler watering the front lawn on his farm 250 miles east of Perth. To save the trouble of turning off the sprinkler, he ran under it to grab the hose, bend it and stop the flow of water.

Spicer grabbed and was about to bend the "hose" when it squirmed violently in his hands.

The horrified Spicer found he had grabbed a deadly, 5-foot copperhead snake which apparently was cooling off under the sprinkler.

He dropped the snake just as it struck and its fangs went into his boot. He killed the snake with an iron bar.

"Lucky for me I was not wearing sandals," said Spicer.

Engineers to Sell Riverboat

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Army Engineers plans to sell the sternwheel steamer Arkansas II, which has been removing obstructions from the Arkansas and Mississippi Rivers for 25 years.

The engineers will open bids on the snagboat Dec. 14 at the Memphis District office.

The steamer, with modifications especially designed for snagging operations, was built in 1940 at a cost of $208,000. The vessel and her predecessor, the first Arkansas, worked principally on the Arkansas River to remove tree trunks, roots and other obstructions.

Faubus Is Silent on Proposal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus declined comment Thursday on a proposal by the Arkansas Legislative Council that it offer a legislative program of its own early in the 1967 General Assembly.

The council took the action on the suggestion of Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin, who said he had inferred that Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller did not have a program to introduce.

Faubus recalled that he got off to a slow start in his first term 12 years ago. Afterwards, he said, he developed a "minimum program" and the main points were approved by the legislature.

"We proposed the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, the Committee of 100 which prepared the way for industrialization and repealed the sales tax on feed," the governor said.

Poster Cleanup in Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — About 21,000 political posters have been hauled to a Phoenix dump and bulldozed under the sod.

Republican central committee officials reported Thursday they had paid $1,050 to persons who gathered up the posters of both under it to grab the hose, bend it and stop the flow of water.

A nickel-per-poster bounty was offered by the committee.

Conway Up in Population

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Conway's population is 14,485, according to preliminary figures of a special census that were released Thursday. The figure represents an increase of 1,985 since another special census was taken in 1961.

U.S. Can Still Destroy Any Enemy Force

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have stressed that deployment of a Soviet antimissile system has not changed this basic fact in the balance of power: The United States still can destroy any enemy — even one that strikes first.

Emphasizing the offensive, the officials reported Thursday that the United States still is maintaining a better than 3 to 1 edge in stockpiles of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Production of such missiles, they said, has been programmed to assure that American rockets could effectively penetrate any antimissile system the Soviets are capable of building.

The officials acknowledged, however, that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will decide within 60 days whether to recommend a deployment of America's version of an antimissile system — the Nike X. They said the question is receiving very serious consideration. President Johnson would make the final decision.

McNamara announced last week that there is considerable evidence that the Soviet Union has begun deploying its antimissile system around major cities. "I think it is important that we assume it is effective and, of course, that will be the assumption on which we base the development and deployment of our own intercontinental ballistic missiles," he told newsmen at the Texas White House.

Powell Ordered to Prison Term

NEW YORK (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy today ordered Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Harlem Democrat, to surrender to the sheriff on Nov. 23 to begin serving a 30-day jail term for criminal contempt of court.

In his order, Levy said Powell would be liable to an additional 60-day term if he defaulted in paying a $500 fine which was part of the sentence imposed on Nov. 4.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Increased fighting between Portuguese government troops and African nationalists in Mozambique resulted in 43 nationalists killed and 181 captured in the first two weeks of November, a Portuguese army communiqué said today.

U.S. Plans No Letup at Christmas

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has indicated the United States is holding open the possibility that a silence in the ground war in Viet Nam will be matched by a silence in the air war — at least for Christmas and the lunar New Year.

But Rusk added at a news conference Friday: "I would not want to hold out the expectation that a prolonged pause in the bombing might occur."

He said there have been no indications from the other side as to what would happen if the bombing were stopped. But he drew a distinction between the idea of a general pause — like the one that lasted 37 days over the last Christmas season — and what might happen this Christmas.

Carefully emphasizing his words, Rusk said that what might happen during such special days as Christmas and the Tet — lunar New Year — period would depend on the South Vietnamese and to some extent on the Viet Cong, the Communist guerrillas.

The Tet, which covers a three-day period in the second week of February, ushers in the "Year of the Sheep" in the Chinese lunar calendar.

At his first news conference in two months, Rusk avoided taking flat position against a holiday truce provided the other side stopped shooting. But he did rule out any one-sided gesture by the United States to stop bombing North Viet Nam without some assurance of reciprocal action.

Rusk said the military problem as to be faced in South Viet Nam "solely due to the fact that the other side has not been willing to undertake serious discussions or to come to the conference table, or to engage in a conference or to start making peace."

On another subject, the secretary put Czechoslovakia on notice that relations with the United States would be affected if there is not a speedy solution to the case of Vladimir Kazan-Komarek, an American travel agent arrested in Prague on spy charges.

Rusk said the United States is "pressing very hard for immediate consular access" to the travel agent, a former Czech who was arrested while returning from a travel conference in Moscow.

Russia Making Arom Water Plant

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is building an atomic plant for making fresh water at Shevchenko, on the Caspian Sea, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Tass said the conventional desalination plant has proved inadequate for the growing city. The Caspian Sea is salty and there is no local natural source of fresh water.

Tass did not report when the plant will be finished or give other details.

Urban Future Discussed at Conference

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Our urban future does not rest in the national and state capitals as much as it does along our own city streets, the Arkansas state Chamber of Commerce was told today.

Marvin Hurley of Houston, a native of Hecor, Ark., addressed the opening luncheon of the chamber's two-day meeting here.

Hurley, executive vice president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, said:

"No matter how much we share in federal and state programs, the initiative has to begin at home."

Tonight's banquet speaker will be Frederic Donner, chairman and chief executive officer of General Motors. Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., will introduce him.

Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller will address the meeting Friday.

Let Us Live Out Thanks Cambodians Invade Viet Nam Village

BY MARY ANITA LASETER
STAR FEATURE WRITER

We give thanks to God above
In song and words of praise
For home and health and those we love
Now and throughout our days.

But merely saying "Thanks" to Him
Is not enough, somehow,
If deeds of good for us are slim
Or we to evil bow.

For He expects the best of man
In action, as in word
Thanksgiving is important and—
ThanksLiving for our Lord.

Strike May Hurt Nat'l Television

By BOB MONROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Union-ordered work stoppages on some taped television programs added urgency today to a federal attorney's initial effort to avert a threatened strike against the nation's major television and radio networks.

The AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists invoked the work stoppages Thursday against taped television shows whose producers would not agree to keep reruns off the air in the event of a strike.

One of the first affected was the Johnny Carson "Tonight" program. At the union's direction, Carson and his cast stayed away from their regular early evening taping session and the National Broadcasting Co. filled the late night slot with a Carson rerun.

A taping session for NBC's daytime serial "The Doctors" was canceled Thursday when cast members walked out after a rehearsal.

Master of ceremonies Gene Rayburn and announcer Johnny Olsen refused to tape a third half-hour episode of another NBC daytime show, the "Match Game," after completing two tapings earlier in the day.

"We have told our members not to appear in a prerecording unless they know that the producer has signed the agreement," an AFTRA spokesman said.

Canceled taping sessions in Hollywood included NBC's "Swinging Country" and "You Don't Say." Many shows are taped weeks before they are to be aired, and the effect of Thursday's stoppages might not be apparent immediately.

Contacts between the networks and the two unions — AFTRA and the AFL-CIO Screen Actors Guild — expired at midnight Tuesday and negotiations collapsed some four hours later.

Hammerschmidt Leaving for Washington

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — John Paul Hammerschmidt, Arkansas' new 3rd District congressman, said Thursday he would resign as the chairman of the state Republican party.

Hammerschmidt, who defeated veteran Rep. J. W. Trimble, made the announcement while attending the State Chamber of Commerce meeting in Hot Springs.

He said he would call the state committee together in a few weeks and turn in his resignation. The timing is expected to coincide with his leaving for Washington.

Hammerschmidt said he assumed Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller would probably retain his position as Republican national committeeman from Arkansas.

He said he has not conferred with Trimble yet, but he said he planned to before leaving for Washington. Hammerschmidt said he wanted to meet with Trimble to determine if there are any particular projects or problems Trimble had in mind for the 3rd District.

Attitude on China, UN Unchanged

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since 1950, the year the Korean war began and the Red Chinese got involved, the United States has been opposing U.N. membership for the Chinese Communists.

That was 16 years ago and ever since, by various parliamentary devices, the United States has succeeded in keeping Red China out. Now, once again this year, the try will be made.

The 121-member U.N. General Assembly is supposed to start debating Friday.

In the early 1950s the main American argument was Red China's intrusion into the Korean War. Now it focuses on Peking's involvement in various ways, in the war in Viet Nam.

In the late 1950s and early 1960s, as the memory of Korea receded a bit, it either the Republican or Democratic administrations of those years had thought the time had come to admit Red China, it would have been politically unpopular.

Now the war in Viet Nam has abolished any chance of change in the American government's attitude.

In the early 1950s, when the U.N. membership was much smaller, this country had no great problem in getting a good-sized majority to block U.N. membership for the Chinese Reds.

Later, as the membership increased, the American majority decreased and reached its low point in 1960. In the early years the United States had successfully opposed even debating U.N. membership for the Red Chinese.

But by 1961 it tried a new device which it has been using in one way or another since. This was to ask the assembly to consider admission of Red China as an "important matter."

Only a simple majority was needed to name the problem of Red Chinese membership an "important matter."

But once there was such a majority vote, then there would have to be debate on this "important matter" of admitting Red China. Then, when debate ended and the assembly voted on letting in Red China, a two-thirds vote would be needed on this "important matter."

The Red Chinese haven't had enough sympathizers yet to provide that two-thirds vote. Last year the vote was 47 to 47, with 20 abstentions. This week the United States made its "important matter" proposal again.

The Soviet Union, despite its split with the Red Chinese, has supported U.N. membership for them. It will be fascinating to see what Moscow does this year because of something that happened this week in Bulgaria.

A Soviet-inspired effort toward reading Red China out of the Communist world ran into opposition. The Soviet Union will be in an awkward spot if, believing Red China is unfit for Communist partnership, it says China is fit for U.N. membership.

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Uniformed Cambodian soldiers crossed the border into South Viet Nam, invaded a farming community and fought a brief battle with Vietnamese militiamen near the frontier, a Vietnamese military spokesman charged today.

He said 50 Cambodian soldiers penetrated 500 yards inside Vietnamese territory late Friday, kidnapped a Vietnamese civilian and stole 14 cattle. They returned into Cambodia after a short clash with a local militia unit near the frontier, the spokesman said.

The border-crossing was announced as fresh fighting broke out this afternoon in War Zone C between units of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and entrenched Viet Cong.

The fighting erupted a few hours after Guam-based B52 bombers staged two raids today on Viet Cong positions in War Zone C about 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

The giant Stratofortis, in a third raid today, also bombed North Vietnamese training areas and gun positions 20 miles northwest of Plei Djereng Special Forces camp in the central highlands.

AP Outlines Changes That Are Planned

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, outlined today a number of technical and editorial changes planned by the news service.

Gallagher told the annual convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors that the AP is now doing investigative reporting, which he said would have been "sacrilegious a few years ago."

"We adopt no point of view but simply report the facts and let the readers draw their own conclusions," Gallagher said. Recent investigative stories covered waste in foreign aid and bribery and graft in Viet Nam.

Another innovation is the lengthy, magazine-style feature such as "The Middle-Aged Lions" just issued. This was a 15,000-word story covering the experiences of four men during World War II and the subsequent years.

Gallagher also announced that The Associated Press will change its "A" wire from all capitals to caps and lower case next spring.

He said the speed of the wire will be increased to 66 words per minute at the time of the change-over. It is now 60 words per minute.

The change is designed to enable newspapers with computers to store the "A" wire copy and call it out at will, Gallagher said. The caps and lower case style also will help papers without computers by eliminating some copy marking.

Gallagher called the "A" wire change "the first step in a technical revolution which will be carried out throughout the service over the next few years."

"Here again we are going to make our changes step-by-step because the technical area of delivery is moving so rapidly that a change today can become obsolete tomorrow," he said.

"But our aim is to have one type of delivery system, upper and lower case, rather than our traditional teletype wire," Gallagher added.

He also revealed that The Associated Press is organizing a photo task force that will be available to cover the top stories anywhere in the nation.

"These are photographers who have shown inventiveness and creativity in their news assignments, and we want to put them on the top story of the day and the big project of the day, such as those produced by AP Newsfeatures," he said. "These photographers are stationed across the country and will be on immediate call of the photo desk when a big story breaks."

Scientists Hail Europa Success

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Scientists of seven nations today hailed the successful 530-mile flight of Europa 1 rocket and said it means they will have a commercial communications satellite ready by 1970 or soon after.

The 104-foot, three-stage rocket, developed by the European Launcher Development Organization, blasted off early today from the Woomera range on its 1½-minute trip. The Blue Streak primary booster separated as scheduled 42 miles up, followed by the successive firing of the second-stage French Coralie rocket and the third-stage West German rocket behind the Italian satellite.
